The Art of Academic writing - PACS teachers strategies

As PACS students you have to write numerous academic papers like the classical term paper. Some of you did not get many occasions to practice academic writing during their Bachelor studies and may now feel unsure about it. But don't worry! A proverb says „No one is born a master“. In order to show you how our PACS teachers developed as academic writers and that they do not write the perfect text in the beginning, you can read some of their experience here.
